

APPLICATION FOR WATCHDOG FUND INVESTIGATIVE GRANT

Courtesy of the Driehaus Foundation, the Chicago Headline Club coordinates a grant to offset costs associated with investigative reporting work.

You are eligible for a grant if you work in the greater Chicago area. Grants are awarded to full-time, part-time and freelance journalists for print, broadcast and online reporting.

Your request will be reviewed by a Chicago Headline Club representative who is not a member of the working press and who will not reveal the details of your investigative project to a potential competing news organization.

You may check the status of your application by emailing Watchdog Fund Committee chair Jason Martin at jmart181@depaul.edu.

To apply, complete the questionnaire below and return via email to watchdog@headlineclub.org with the subject line "Watchdog Fund application."

Attach additional sheets if necessary.

Name/job title:

Home address:

News outlet (if applicable):

Outlet's address:

Your email address:

Your work phone number:

Your editor's name and phone number:

Describe your investigative project:

Give the probable deadline for its publication, airing or posting.

How much money do you request? Please provide a brief explanation of how the money will be spent, and be prepared to provide receipts of your expenses to the Chicago Headline Club.